Company Develops Gadget To Make Gas Go Further

The gasoline situation being what it is—tight and terrible—motorists are as touchy as Japanese admirals, and just as suspicious of their neighbors. So when some folks in the community began to notice certain cars in the neighborhood performing in a manner that smacked of pre-war high octane gasoline, right away they suspected the existence of a black market.

Consequently, reports of a mysterious leakage in aviation gasoline began to flood our offices. And in spite of manpower shortage, two reporters were detailed to get the facts. (The memory of the last time we pushed the family car to a filling station still smart!) According to our super-sleuths the trail led, not to a black market in illicit gasoline, but to an amazing new invention for improving gasoline. The effect is just as good, and a lot more legitimate.

It developed that Harold H. Bromberg, general proprietor of Burlingame Motor Co., is the "guilty" party. It seems that he has the exclusive distribution of a motor in installation called "Protonizer," which has been responsible for some remarkable changes in motor-car performance.

In our interview with Mr. Bromberg, he told us about a bit of fun he had with his service manager, Frank Cowden, after he had the first Protonizer unit installed on his own car. He told Cowden to "lean down" his carburetor three full stages.

Cowden, an experienced mechanic, refused because such an adjustment ordinarily would prevent the car from running. Bromberg persisted, and the adjustment was finally made.

The car didn't stop running—much to Cowden's disappointment. (Nobody likes to lose an argument.) As a matter of fact the motor started up with a purr, and Bromberg drove off on a flow of gasoline so thin it would just about run a motor-bike.

Our sleuths were duly impressed. This invention evidently means more miles per gallon. And more miles per gallon means a number of good things to a fellow with an "A" gas ration card.

As Bromberg explained it, the principle on which the Protonizer works is somewhat as follows: Inside the small Protonizer cylinder is stored a catalytic liquid, 18 times heavier than gasoline. As the gas-line is forced through the cylinder on its way to the motor this secret liquid acts as a catalyst, vastly improving its structure and efficiency as a motor fuel. Actually, the component structure of the gasoline is changed.

This re-refined gasoline is so good, Bromberg alleges with pardonable pride, that it takes the coldest motor off without a jerk.

This claim, he says, is based upon actual tests made right here in San Mateo County. First, all the staff at Burlingame Motor Co. installed Protonizers on their own cars. After several weeks of observations, tests and inspections, they installed a number of Protonizers on customers' cars, and that is how the "black market gas" rumor reached our ears. During the past three months, they have installed some 200 Protonizers... all very quietly, without fanfare. For one thing, Bromberg wanted to be absolutely sure of the consistent performance of this new boom for war-time drivers. For another thing, production facilities have been rather limited, pending the tooling-up period at the factory.

San Mateo County—and Burlingame Motor Company share the distinction of being the first public proving ground and the first distributor in the United States for this revolutionary gasoline refinery in miniature. The results have been encouraging, Burlingame Motor Co. has contracted for distribution in all of Northern California, and several other western states besides.

Naturally, it's pretty hard to keep a thing like this secret very long. Bromberg advises that scores of local motorists who have learned about them from friends, are already clamoring for Protonizers. But new shipments from the factory are arriving weekly.

With the Protonizer (we ought to charge him at our regular advertising rate for this paragraph) you won't need to shift into "low" on hills as you do with the stuff they are selling for gasoline these days.

Gasoline, did you say?

B.B. Berman Appeals For Guide Dogs

E. B. Berman of Redwood City, district chairman of Dogs for Defense, has appealed for German shepherd females for guide dogs for the blinded veterans of this war. These dogs should be from one to two and a half years old, stand from 18 to 24 inches at the shoulder, should have well-picked ears and the general appearance of a German shepherd.

The dogs must not be gun shy or storm shy. They will not be run shy to their owners because, once they are trained, they will become the property of the blinded veteran, Berman pointed out.

Anyone having such a dog to offer may contact Berman at 2608 Broadway, telephone Redwood City 63.

Christman revealed at the same time.

R.C. Listed On Proposed Air Route

New plans for a post-war airlines network radiating from Mills Field—the second in recent months—and including 100 Peninsula and state towns, were announced Monday by the School of Aeronautics in San Diego.

Civil aeronautics board permission for operation of six new air routes to offer daily passenger and mail service has been requested, company officials said and comes as the second request to the board for post-war airlines development in this area. Southwest Airways, Inc., of Beverly Hills has previously filed application for permission to provide similar service on the Peninsula, and hearings are scheduled in Washington in a short time.

The Ryan application calls for twin-engine transports traveling 5400 air-miles daily, which would land at 28 towns with landing facilities and use pick-up devices at intermediate towns.

If the application is granted, Redwood City is the only Peninsula city that would be included in one of the four proposed routes originating at Mills Field. The route would end at Los Angeles with Redwood City as the first stop after leaving Mills Field. Other proposed routes would end at Bakersfield, Redding, and Eureka.

from the surgeon general's office in Washington, D. C., army engineers are already inspecting the mansion and making plans for its conversion into a rehabilitation training center to be used by convalescent patients, Colonel Christman said.

THIS WILL CALL FOR A PILE OF JACK

Post-War Plans Must Not Be Air Castles

Post-war plans won't be much good without money in the sock to back them up. It will take a lot of dough to get back into peacetime production and replace equipment which has been worn out by war work.

To help assure smoother transition to peace production and thus make peacetime jobs for more people... and sooner... Johns-Manville has put aside a kitty of ten million dollars, called the Fund for Deferred Expenditure. This will help replace worn-out machinery, buy new and improved equipment and put J-M in a position to provide jobs for returning servicemen and others when the war ends.

Is Saving a Sin?

Until the war bond drives started and until there was evident danger of inflation from too much spending, it was pretty widely preached around in America that it was sorta wicked to save money. If you had a nice nest egg in the bank you were called a "capitalist" (as though that were some kind of sin) and frowned upon.

How different from the days when our fathers considered it "character" to live on less than they earned and to put some money aside for a rainy day, or to invest eventually in some business.

Squirrels save up for Winter, but some folks think people should leave their worries and their ambitions to a bureau.

Won't it be a more prosperous country when we get the idea again that thrift is virtuous and when savings can again be used to build thriving American enterprises?

AND GET IN DISGRACE WITH OUR NEW-FASHIONED NEIGHBORS?

POST-WAR FAMILY TALK??

Born on a Trolley Car

The most modern type of office partition walls originated back in 1907 on the under side of a Brooklyn trolley car.

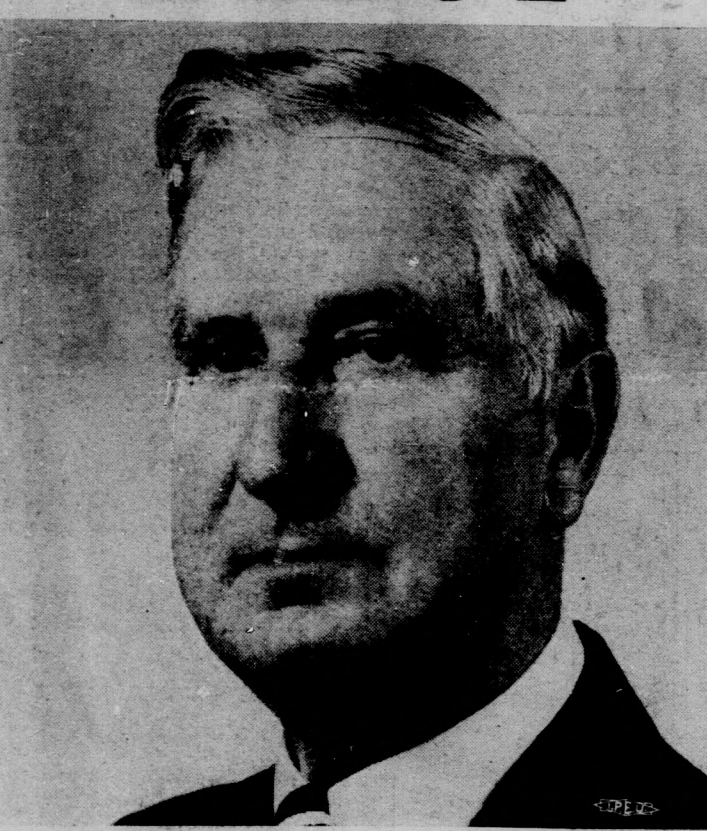

You see, those first electric trolleys were plagued by fires under the wooden floors. To check this menace, Johns-Manville developed large asbestos fire proof sheets, named "Transite" in honor of the Brooklyn Transit Company. From this start came such asbestos-cement products as movable office partitions, Transite pipe, roofing and siding.

Little Journeys to J-M Plants

You gotta hide your eyes and not see too much on your trip today to the Kansas Ordnance Plant, for it is supposed to be mostly secret. This plant, which is one of the largest ordnance plants in the country, was planned and built by J-M for the government, and now J-M operates it for the government. It turns out bombs and shells and block-busters, and that's about all we can tell except that it's in Kansas and was the first such plant to get the Army-Navy "E".

Keep Pampering the Old Darling!

Your WATER HEATER
is a priceless old dear!

He's as comforting as old shoe...your dependable water heater? Normally he would be no worry. But you are doing more family washing and doing more "putting up" that means scalding jars and glasses... doing more floor scrubbing on your own hands and knees. That's all good and patriotic work, BUT... Your water heater is working harder delivering more hours of heating the gallons of water you are using in greater and greater amount. So, sort of pamper your water heater; won't you? This is how; do not waste hot water. Check leaking faucets. Open the drain valve on your heater every few months and run water into a bucket until clear of sediment. And when trouble seems serious, call a master plumber.

Julia gives 3 favorite baking recipes

There's something about a hot oven and the good smells that come from it, these lively afternoons, that makes baking a special pleasure. Of course I have favorite recipes to work with. For instance:

SCONES

(which are just as tasty for breakfast or dinner as they are at tea-time!)

2 cups enriched flour 1 tsp. grated orange rind
3 tps. baking powder ½ cup seedless raisins (may be omitted)
½ tsp. salt 1 egg
1 tsp. sugar 6 tps. shortening Milk

Sift flour; measure; sift again with baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening, add orange rind and raisins. Beat egg with fork in measuring cup, add milk to make ½ cup; add to dry ingredients, stirring until all the flour is dampened. Knead on lightly floured board 20 to 30 seconds; roll or pat to ½-inch thickness. Place in ungreased 9-inch layer cake pan; score scones with fork. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) about 10 minutes or until brown.

CREAM PUFFS

(and here, the trick is to bake them long enough—they can be filled with prepared puddings, or home-made cornstarch pudding or ice cream or custard.)

1 cup enriched flour ¼ tsp. salt
½ cup butter or 1 cup water
shortening 4 eggs

Sift flour and measure; sift again. Combine butter or shortening, salt, and water in saucepan. Bring to boil, remove from heat and add flour all at once, beating until dough leaves side of pan; cool slightly. Add eggs, one at a time (have eggs at room temperature), beating until batter is smooth after each addition. Drop by heaping tablespoons on ungreased cookie sheet, or form into strips 4 x 1-inch, spreading into shape with a knife. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) about 20 minutes, reduce temperature to moderate oven (350° F.) and continue to bake 20 minutes longer or until thoroughly dry and will hold shape. Makes 12 large or 24 small puffs.

LEMON TEA MUFFINS

(for one thing, they provide a pleasant change when friends drop in for tea.)

1 cup enriched flour 2 eggs
1 tsp. baking powder 1 tsp. grated lemon rind
½ tsp. salt ¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup shortening ¼ cup sugar

Sift flour and measure; sift again with baking powder and salt. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add lemon rind. Add flour mixture alternately with lemon juice, a small amount at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Fill well greased muffin pans ¾ full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) 10 minutes or until done. Makes 24 tiny muffins. Serve cold (no butter required!).
